Despite some concern about a leveling of interest in country homes on discreet parcels, larger estate quality tracts of land within 2¹/₂ hours of New York are becoming both more scarce and more expensive. For Klemm, times are good and getting better. Prices on land and larger estates are going up. We sold a superb horse property on 80± acres near Millbrook for $6.25m last year, a 140± acre estate property in Salisbury, CT in April 2007 for $6m, 205± acres in Gallatin, NY of raw land for almost $2.5m last month, 192± acres in Ancram, NY and numerous smaller parcels of 12 to 200 acres, some with and some without structures, all in the last three months.

People are buying their piece of terra firma now in a hurry to build their dream country compound. They understand that to procrastinate will involve higher prices. There are some eye-popping opportunities in this issue!

Klemm Real Estate offers over 5,000 acres in different sized parcels from which to choose. Click on the Klemm Website, www.klemmrealestate.com (some of our listings are marketed though Klemm's Private Property Division and are not seen on our website).
